Illuminate
...a venue with a cause

When I picked up my son from respite on Saturday there was extra traffic. When they told me that this was because of a wedding that was occurring in the event space, I got so overcome with emotion (fahklempt) and I cried. I am also tearing up as I write this now. I feel this deep, automatic sense of love and gratitude for the bride and groom who chose to get married at JAFCO, as their decision directly benefits my son and our family. There are so many wonderful places to get married at in South Florida. Choosing a place that is not only beautiful but is also meaningful reminds me that there are amazing people whose priorities simply make the world a better place. I just wanted to share this feedback with you and you can feel free to pass it on to the bride and groom, or anyone else.

— Elana C.

From start to finish everything was perfect! It was better than anything I could have planned, loved the makeup and dressing areas. All of the staff made us feel so important and they were so friendly and accommodating. The food and entertainment was #1. Thank you Michael and team.
